Dear parent/carers

E-safety alert: Roblox

It has come to my attention today that quite a large number of children in the school are playing an online game called 'Roblox'. Whilst this is, apparently, aimed at 12 years and under, there are numerous examples across the on-line community of very inappropriate use, including young children viewing explicit sexual images.

Access to the game is blocked within school, and children cannot access it while they are here.

I would urge you to ensure you monitor your child's use of the internet carefully, whether via PC, laptop, X-Box, PlayStation or Nintendo and ensure that appropriate parental controls are set.

There is a wealth of E-safety advice available on our school website, further copies of the 'Digital Parenting' magazine are available from school (previously & regularly sent to all families) or you can seek advice, if you wish, from Alex Blom.

In addition, there is now a link on our website under 'E-safety' to on-line advice as to how to control access to Roblox.

I hope the above information is of use.

Thank you for your continued support.

Yours sincerely

J B Wallace
